It was around 9 days after the Cell Games. Gohan was still grieving over his father's death, and still training to become stronger. He caught up on as much work as possible and trained any time he could, but that day, something would happen that only one person had expected.

Gohan was training with Vegeta on the lookout. Vegeta was in his usual outfit and Gohan was in a long sleeved white shirt, long black pants, and black slip on shoes like his father wore as a child.

Piccolo snuck up behind Gohan and made a blow to his neck, knocking him out. He slowly fell but Piccolo rushed and grabbed him.

"What was that for you idiotic green slug! Couldn't you see I was sparring with Kakarot's brat!" Vegeta shouted

"Yes I could but you were so busy you didn't notice did you... Cell's
